

ALDERNEY
GAMBLING CONTROL COMMISSION

Media Release
12 July 2011

Alderney Gambling Control Commission (AGCC) will hold a public hearing regarding the future of Full Tilt Poker at 10am on 26 July at the Park Plaza Victoria Hotel in London.

The purpose of the hearing will be to make public evidence from both AGCC and Full Tilt regarding the suspension of Full Tilt's licence and to adjudicate the findings transparently.

Full Tilt's licence was suspended last month by AGCC following an indictment by the US government and its subsequent failure to satisfy AGCC that its activities inside and outside the US were in order.

Executive Director of AGCC, André Wilsenach, said: "AGCC's choice to hold a public hearing in to the future of Full Tilt Poker demonstrates our willingness to act transparently and we will welcome members of the public and the media. As ever at all times, our primary concern is the protection of the player."

It will assist the process if members of the public or the media wishing to attend the hearing would first contact AGCC on +44 (0)1481 825500.
